PLURIVERSE

A Post-Development Dictionary

Pluriverse: A Post-Development Dictionary contains over 100 essays on transformative alternatives to the currently dominant processes of globalized development, including its structural roots in modernity, capitalism, state domination, and masculinist values. It offers critical essays on mainstream solutions that ‘greenwash’ development, and presents radically different worldviews and practices from around the world that point to an ecologically wise and socially just world.

About the Editors

Ashish Kothari, activist with Kalpavriksh, India.

Ariel Salleh, scholar and activist, author of Ecofeminism as Politics, Sydney, Australia.

Arturo Escobar, professor, University of North Carolina, USA.

Federico Demaria, researcher, Autonomous University of Barcelona, member of Research & Degrowth.

Alberto Acosta, economist, professor, former President of Ecuador’s Constituent Assembly.
