Thanking nature for the many goods and services it gives us (food, oxygen, medicines, spaces for initiation), the wisdom it teaches us and the peace it gives us;

Thanking our ancestors for their work, perseverance and wisdom in the service of life, for the path they have blazed for us and for the assistance they continue to give us;

We note the holding of Assemblies of ICCA-Territories of Life at national level in Senegal, Burkina Faso, Guinea and Benin and the holding of various preparatory meetings in other countries of the West African sub-region (16-19 November 2021 in Ouagadougou Burkina Baso 2021), the holding of the General Assembly of ICCA-Territories of Life in Central Africa (7-9 March 2022 in Goma, DRC), the General Assembly of ICCA-Territories of Life in Madagascar (6-9 July 2022 in Antananarivo);

Aware of the role of communities in the different issues and policies of these texts and conventions,

Concerned about our well-being and that of future generations,

Concerned about the preservation of natural and cultural values, both tangible and intangible, respect for customary norms and rules, solidarity and pride in identity.

Aware of the various social, environmental and economic functions that ACPAs-living territories perform for the conservation of nature and the well-being of local communities,

Conscious of the current threats to ICCAs-Territories of Life, including a decrease in respect for the sacred, modernisation, overexploitation, land grabs, deforestation, poaching, corruption, demographic pressure, urbanisation, conflict, the presence of armed groups and the loss of biodiversity.
